PROPOSALS
BY BENJAMIN EDES & CO.
OF BALTIMORE,
For Publishing a New and Valuable Work, by Subscription, entitled,
An Universal Dictionary
OF Commercial Geography;

CONTAINING all that relates to the situation and extent of every commercial state in the world, and a comprehensive and correct account of their agriculture and products, their manufactures, fisheries and mines, and the commerce resulting therefrom—their laws, customs, tribunals and administrations of commerce—their land carriage and navigation; their banks and commercial companies; their monies weights and measures; their exports and imports; their exchange and the balance of trade; their colonies, &c. &c. arranged in alphabetical order—From the French of J. Peuchet, author of the Dictionary of Police, of the Methodical Encyclopædia, &c.

☞ The publishers have been at great expense in obtaining the only translation revised and corrected by gentlemen of well known talents, which will make about 15 vols. 8 vo. containing 600 pages each, dedicated to the Merchants of the U. S. Copy right secured according to law.

The work now proposed to the public may be said to be a miniature view of the commercial world, unfolding the commerce of every clime. It combines the experience of past ages with the trade of the present day. In the author's preliminary discourse and introduction, will be found a most interesting history of commerce from remote ages progressively until the publication of the work, together with the tables of the money of the different nations of the world; tables of the old and present weights, & measures of distance, surface, solids and capacity in France, adopted since the revolution &c. &c. Therein all the intricacies and labyrinths of trade are brought into one view.

The high estimation in which the Commercial Geographical Dictionary is held in Europe, induces the publishers to cherish a hope that in their expectations of remuneration they will not be disappointed. They know not of any work in the English language on the subject of which it treats, of so general importance.

Gentlemen acquainted with the real merits of the work will be highly gratified in seeing it in English dress, to effect which the publishers have not hesitated to encounter every obstacle, and brave every expense. They are determined that the work shall be executed in a style which shall not deteriorate the character of the American press.

CONDITIONS.

The work will make at least 15 large octavo volumes, containing 600 pages each, and printed on a new type and paper of a good quality

It will be delivered to subscribers bound in boards at $3 for each volume payable on delivery. To non subscribers the price will be enhanced.

It is expected one volume will be delivered each month from the commencement. A list of the patrons of the work will be added to the last volume.

☞ Subscriptions received at this office.

[We pass the following on the public only for as much as it is worth.]

EXTRACTS FROM THE AURORA OF TUESDAY.

AN American vessel about to enter the Texel, destined for Amsterdam, was forbidden to enter, and, all intercourse with Holland declared to be interdicted to the American flag, of which a positive notification was given.

The vessels thus impeded had arrived in England.

The Danish government has made a similar communication, qualified in the mode, by an intimation that though the American flag will not be suffered to enter the ports of Denmark, it arises not out of any hostile dispositions on the part of Denmark, which would cheerfully countenance the fair trade of America; but that the double conviction of multiplied frauds and impositions carried on under American colours, could not be defeated by any effort of discrimination.

The principle of the Duke of Cadore's letter, is declared to be adopted by all the powers of the Baltic, and American vessels would not be permitted to enter any port in that sea. The efforts of Mr. Adams, at St. Petersburg, to avert this consequence, by a strict discrimination between British covered, and real American property, had not the effect hoped for, as the difficulties and innumerable varieties of frauds rendered the detection not always practicable. Russian ports, as well as Danish and Swedish, Prussian, and the whole of the coast, will be closed against our flag.

There is little dependence to be placed on reports of French affairs derived through English sources, but we think it nevertheless proper to state, what we do not think improbable, because it is perfectly compatible with the character of Burr, who is stated to have presented a memorial to the Emperor on the subject of his former conspiracy to divide the union, and that he proposed to Bonaparte, a renewal of the design under French auspices; the friends of Burr in England spoke with the fullest confidence of his being successful, and many of his old adherents had left England to meet him in Paris; there were several there before him.

It is remarkable, however, that we have no advices of these affairs from Paris further than the fact of Burr's arrival and his being more in obscurity, treated with indifference by the French ministers; and that our ambassador there has not even heard of the memorial of Burr referred to in the English accounts, nor had he any knowledge further of a new minister coming to the United States, than was known through the public papers.

From the Connecticut Courant.

MEMORY OF WASHINGTON.—We prize any valuable thing more highly after we have lost it, than whilst we enjoyed it.—When the well is dry, as the old proverb says, we know the worth of water. Children that have a wise and affectionate father, who is to them a bond of union, and is daily dispensing among them comfort and cheerfulness, though they respect and love him whilst living, they can hardly be sensible of his full value till death has deprived them of him. Then it is, they first begin to know the full worth of such a parent; his wisdom, his paternal cares and tenderness, and the salutary influence he had over them, are brought home to their bosoms in lively recollection. Especially if, perchance, he be succeeded by a partial, unfeeling, spendthrift step-father, who sets the children together by the ears, turns half of them out of doors, and, by mismanagement impoverishes the family—they then cherish the memory of the real father with redoubled affection.

And so it has happened with respect to that great and good man, who eminently was the political father of this country.—Washington, in his life time, was highly respected as a brave and skilful general, a wise statesman, and an incorruptible patriot. At his death there was a general gush of affection; the nation was in tears. Yet even then, the value of that wonderful man was not fully known; nor could it have been so fully known as it now is, but from the woeful experience the country has had since, of public men whose characters and measures have been directly opposite to his.

"If the mantle of Washington had fallen upon his successors; if they had been endued with his wisdom and virtue, and had followed his steps; if government had all along continued to move in the same dignified course, as well since his death as under his administration; it would have been happy indeed for the country, but the fame of Washington would have been less illustrious.

As in setting a jewel to the best advantage, something of a different and inferior color is shaded round it as a foil to exalt its lustre, so the enemies of Washington are a foil to his character. Though "they meant not so, neither did their hearts think so," they have rendered his memory more dear and his fame brighter than seemingly could have been possible without their help. Between him and them are seen as striking opposites as light and darkness: here wisdom, there folly; here magnanimity, there meanness; here plans, there projects; here the dignity of an honest mind, there the turpitude of intrigue, deceit and falsehood. And correspondently to the opposite characters have been the different fruits which the public has reaped from each: from the one natural security, honor and wealth; from the other national weakness, disgrace and poverty. That there has been a lamentable falling off, as to our public affairs, since these men quartered themselves upon the public, is what must be obvious to every one who is not sunk in stupidity or blinded by prejudice. They have blistered and purged the nation till they have reduced it to a skeleton.

From the New York Gazette.

Frauds practiced with Bank Notes.—A new fraud or species of counterfeiting has lately been detected. The persons who commit it tear out of six, seven or eight notes as many pieces as will make an additional note, being pasted on a peice of thin paper and well matched, form apparently a complete note. The notes from whence the pieces are taken are, with the exception of those notes which furnish the margins, in two pieces, and these being pinned, sewed, watered or pasted together, form a note which appears to have been injured by accident, (torn in two, or a piece torn either from the right or left hand margin) but sufficiently complete to entitle the holder to demand payment from the bank which issued it. The notes used for this fraud hitherto are of the denominations of 1, 2, 3, 5, and 10 dollars, and rather new than much worn. It is certain that the perpetrators of this fraud live or carry on their villainous business in this city, and that such of our citizens as are least acquainted with Bank Notes, such as market people and retailers, suffer the most severely by it. If every person tendering such a note in payment, except those whose characters place them above suspicion, was apprehended and taken before the police for examination, it is probable the perpetrators would be discovered, and it is probable likewise that the banks would reward in a suitable manner, those who had given their time and labor in bringing the guilty to punishment.

A respectable friend has favored us with the following

TRANSLATION.

From the Gazette of Caracces, of April 27, 1810.

Salus populi suprema lex esto.

Our external defence and security could not be satisfactorily established, while the provinces composing the department of Venezula united under the ancient system, did not form with the capital a confederation that would ensure respectability to the cause which we have undertaken; and with this view the provincial government have chosen from among the natives, those characters best qualified by their knowledge, attachment, to the common cause and influence with the people, to discharge the public duties assigned to them, under the auspices of reciprocal beneficence and utility; and by this means, we may promise ourselves that happy result of which it is susceptible. In addition to the necessary instructions the government has addressed the different provinces, through the means of their commissioners, the following

PROCLAMATION.

Inhabitants of the United Provinces of Venezula!—The Spanish nation, after two years of bloody war and the most violent struggle to defend its liberty and independence, is now on the eve of falling under the tyrannical yoke of its conquerors.—The passes of the Sierra Morena which defended the residence of the national sovereignty having been forced by the enemy, they have descended like an impetuous torrent on Andalusia and the other southern provinces of Spain, and are actually harrassing the rear of those few honest and worthy patriots who precipitately flew for shelter under the walls of Cadiz.

The Supreme Central Junta which possessed the national authority, has been dissolved and dispersed, in consequence of so much turbulence and precipitation; and finally by that sad catastrophe, the sovereignty of the nation, legally constituted for the general preservation of the state, has been thus destroyed. Under these embarrassing circumstances, the inhabitants of Cadiz have organized a new system of government under the denomination of "Regency," which can have no other object than the temporary defence of those few Spaniards who had succeeded in escaping the yoke of the conqueror, and providing for their future safety, and consequently cannot be clothed with the general national power, much less that of those citizens who possess the legitimate and indispensable power of watching over their own preservation and security, as integral parts of the Spanish monarchy. And can you obtain so important an object by your dependence on a power in itself illegal, fluctuating and agitated? Would it be prudent for you to neglect with indifference so precious an opportunity, flying after vain and flattering hopes, instead of hastening to constitute that union and force which alone can secure your political existence, and effect the liberation of our beloved Ferdinand the 7th, from his melancholy imprisonment?

Should we, by this means, in this delightful clime, perpetuate that august and holy religion received from our forefathers?—No! beloved compatriots; the people of Caracces, are well convinced of the necessity we have of agitating our cause with vigor and energy, if you wish to preserve so many and such invaluable rights; and with this view, after receiving the deplorable information of the unfortunate state of the war in Spain, by the late arrivals on our coast, it was determined to form a provisional government in this capital, as well for itself as for all other parts of the province, which shall unite with their accustomed fidelity in favor of Ferdinand the 7th, and was proclaimed and made public on the 19th of this present month, depositing the supreme authority in the most illustrious council of this city and a number of deputies that were named as associates, and together were especially charged to promote and establish a plan of such administration and government as may be considered most congenial to the interests and general wishes of the people.

Inhabitants of Venezuela! this is the vote of the city of Caracces. All its first and highest authorities, have solemnly acknowledged it, by accepting and swearing to observe, with due obedience, the decisions of the people by their representatives; and we, in obedience to the sacred duties imposed upon us, make it known to you, and we invite you to join in that union and fraternity which call us to the same duty and interest. If the sovereignty has been provisionally established with a few individuals, it is not for the purpose of establishing over you, an insulting or oppressive usurpation, nor yet a disgraceful or shameful slavery; but that the urgency and necessity of the moment, as well as the delicacy and importance of the objects, imperiously require it for the common security. This itself puts it out of our power to make manifest to you on this hasty occasion, the extension of our generous ideas; but you must reflect, that if we acknowledge and loudly claim the sacred rights of nature, to protect our civil subjection, in defect of the central and legitimate common authority, which united us, we do not the less respect in you those inviolable rights, and therefore we shall opportunely call your to the exercise of the supreme authority, in proportion to the greater or lesser number of individuals which shall fall to the lot of each province. This is, more or less, the result of the deliberations which on the space of the moment we have to propose to the department of Venezula. Confide therefore, friends, in the sincerity of our intentions, and hasten to reunite your sentiments and affections to those of the citizens of the capitol. That the holy religion which we have inherited from our fathers, may always be for us and for our descendants, the first object of our admiration & the strongest bond to unite our will—That the European Spaniards may be treated and caressed throughout the country with the same affection and consideration as ourselves, they being our brothers, and being cordially and most sincerely united in our cause, and in this way, resting the basis of our social edifice upon the indissoluble foundation of fraternity and union, we shall transmit to our most distant generations the pleasing recollection of our happy efforts, and perhaps we may obtain the satisfaction of beholding our beloved sovereign Ferdinand VII. presiding over the glorious destiny of the people of this country.

Martin Tovar Ponte.
(Signed) Jose de las Llamosa.

Caracas, April 20, 1810.

On Wednesday evening arrived here from Laguira, a Spanish brig, having on board the persons who lately administered the government in Caracas, under the authority of the Supreme Central Junta. We understand that upon the arrival of a vessel at Laguira, bringing intelligence of the dissolution of the Junta, and of other events in Spain, the authority of those who had administered the government of the colony in the name of the Junta, was disregarded in consequence of which they embarked, and, we understand, have taken this country in their way to Spain, to which they will shortly proceed.

To captain Langdon we are indebted for Havanna papers to the 17th ult. They are principally filled with extracts from the American papers. The only matter of interest is the proceedings of an extraordinary meeting of the "Cabildo," on the 26th of April, upon the receipt of the proclamation of the Supreme Council of Regency of Spain and the Indies, and addressed to the Spanish Americans. The report which they have published is lengthy, reflects principally upon the perfidy of Napoleon—the ill success of the Andalusian forces—the investment of Cadiz, and the dangers to be apprehended from the emissaries of France in South-America—and ends with a proposition to strengthen the arm of the governor, who immediately published a superior order to the following effect:

"That if any person whatever has a copy of the proclamation of the intruder Joseph Napoleon, dated 2d Oct. 1809, he shall immediately present it to the nearest magistrate, that it may be burnt by the hands of the hangman. That if any other should appear, it shall immediately be carried to his excellency to be disposed of as may be thought best for the public tranquility. But that no person shall retain in his possession any paper of this description without incurring suspicion, and be punished accordingly."

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6.

☞ Our Advertising friends are earnestly requested to send their advertisements before 4 o'clock in the evening, as they can not be attended to after that hour, for the next morning's paper.

Mr. Snowden,

I notice, from Albert Gallatin's report (made to the House of Representatives) of the 17th April last, respecting Domestic Manufactures, that in the small state of R. Island there are erected no less than 37 Mills for spinning of Cotton, containing 80,000 spindles, which spin 3,600,000 pounds raw cotton per year, which at 20 cents per pound,

Amounts to Dolls.		720,000
That the said mills employ 4,000 persons, viz. 500 men for which we will (for the sake of ascertaining the profits) put down at a dollar per day, is		15,000
3,500 women and children, say at 50 cents per day each, is		525,000
	Dolls	1,260,000
Nett profits per annum,	–	1,980,000
		3,240,000
That the above raw cotton when spun, will yield 2,880,000 lbs at 112½ cents per lb. is		3,240,000

Now, Mr. Snowden, I will venture to presume that Secretary Gallatin may have made a small error; first, as to the quantity that that number of spindles will spin, he makes them average but 45 pounds raw cotton, or 36 pounds spun cotton, for each spindle per year; but I suspect he means the spindles of the mule kind (so called) whereas the improved Arkwright Spindle will spin at least 100 pounds per year, with the same labor employed, or nearly so; then if those 80,000 spindles yield a clear profit of 1,980,000 dolls. those of the Arkwright improved kind will yield a profit of at least double that sum say 3,960,000; but we take the lesser profit for our data, and reduce the number of spindles down so as to come within the ability of our own Town to erect and pursue, say 1000 spindles, which, according to the above calculation, will yield a nett profit of 24,750 dolls. per year. Now, the Secretary says the capital necessary to be employed in this business, is about 100 dolls. a spindle (though not more than 60 dolls. are generally employed) including both the fixed capital applied to the purchase of mill seats, and to the construction of the mills and machinery, and that employed in wages, repairs, raw materials, goods on hand and contingencies — Then, to erect and drive 1000 spindles, would require a capital of 100,000 dolls upon which we might derive an income of nearly 25 per cent. per annum; this, tho' be it not forgotten, is allowing the spindles to be of the mule kind, only spinning 36 lbs. yarn per year, instead of the improved Arkwright kind, which is known to spin at least 100 lbs. per year.

Now again, Mr. Snowden, do you not think some of the surplus capital of our Town had better be employed in this way? It would be both profitable and laudable; the profit alone upon spinning, saying nothing of dying and weaving, which is a handsome thing, more so, I suspect, than the business one half of us are pursuing, and well worth the attention of the Town. Suppose then a Meeting of the people was proposed at some future day, by the Mayor, to take the business into serious consideration, and if it should appear probable that a Company could be formed to that extent, let it be done; if not decrease the extent so as to come within the capital which could be raised; and this ought, if the town think well of it, all to be determined on before the next meeting of the legislature of the state, or district where it might be thought most adviseable to erect it, in order to get an act of incorporation for said Company, and so as to get the Company organized by the next spring, and to work by the 1st March, 1812. If our Town possess (as no doubt it does) information on this subject, not contained in the above communication might it not be well to furnish it to the public through this same channel?

ARKWRIGHT.

What did Manuel Godoy, Prince of Peace, do for Spain? Bartered away Hispaniola and Louisiana to France; paid the French subsidies; sent them troops, and finally put his king and fortresses into the hands of Bonaparte—all that he might reign in peace.—What did Jefferson and Co. do for the United States? Why, pay France sixteen millions for Louisiana; laid an embargo to starve the enemies of France; suffer the French to imprison our fellow-citizens and capture, detain and confiscate our property to the amount of thirty millions—all that they might rule a prejudiced and deluded nation.

Just so did the ministers of Prussia, Denmark, Russia, suffer every injury and indignity without resistance; or if they resisted, it was not until too late to save their country. Ulm was delivered to the French by a traiterous fool, and Germany fell—so was Magdeburg, and then fell the North.

Patriots in Holland and in Italy too, as they call themselves, ruined their countries, which are lost among nations.

What was the history of the Dutch republic? De Wit, the famous patriot, would not believe the French intended them any harm, he suffered them to march into their territories without being prepared to resist them, and the consequence was, that the Dutch people tore their patriot in pieces, for a traitor, and elected a Prince of Orange, to be their hereditary sovereign.

Beware of Dutch policy.

(Balt. Fed. Repub.)

Colonel Burr.—The following article respecting this notorious character is copied from the Aurora:

"A letter from London of the 15th of April, states that Col. Burr had succeeded in obtaining passports for Paris, after a detention of eleven weeks on the French frontiers. It appears by this letter that M. Pichon, formerly charge des affaires of France near the United States, had been addressed by Burr, and through him passports had been obtained. Pichon is in the service of king Jerome, something in the nature of a privy counsellor, an accident curious enough if we only consider that Pichon was recalled, and in temporary disgrace at the special instance of Jerome.

"There is little dependence to be placed on reports of French affairs derived through English sources, but we think it nevertheless proper to state, what we do not think improbable, because it is perfectly compatible with the character of Burr, who is stated to have presented a memorial to the emperor on the subject of his former conspiracy to divide the union, and that he proposed to Bonaparte, a renewal of the design under French auspices; the friends of Burr in England spoke with the fullest confidence of his being successful, and many of his old adherents had left England to meet him at Paris; there were several there before him."

American Rights, bartered by Holland to France.—We believe that the TENTH article of the treaty of France and Holland, exhibits a profligacy of power unexampled in the annals of diplomacy. The property of an unoffending independent nation, a friend of both the contracting parties, openly given up from the sequestration of one, to the confiscation of the other power. No doubt can now remain of the determination of Napoleon of consolidating in the French funds the whole amount of American property which has arrived in Holland since January 1, 1809. From these funds, not one cent will ever be reimbursed to the neutral owner, but at the price of a war with England. Duane, Irvine, and the Chronicle, we dare say, will defend this action of Napoleon's—and advise the government to pray him to protect us in our degradation.—Boston Gazette.

A Picture.—The list of 134 American vessels and their cargoes, confiscated, sequestered, or detained, call it what you please, in the ports of France, Spain, Holland and Naples, presents a commentary upon the friendship of France sufficiently hostile to American prosperity, to excite all the applause of the democrats, from one end of the continent to the other. No doubt they will universally appreciate the conduct of the great emperor, the first object of their respect and veneration. Let the people read Mr. Walsh's letter "On the Genius & Disposition of the French government," and then will there remain this conduct predicted, from the known hatred of Napoleon to commerce in any shape.—Ibid.

It is stated, that all cottons consigned from the United States to Americans, at Lisbon, and transhipped in the Tagus are to be subjected to the duty of 30 per cent; but if the same commodity be consigned to British agents, 4 per cent only is to be the export duty imposed.—Ibid.

From a Barbadoes newspaper of the 24th ultimo.

Accounts from Surinam to the 10th inst. state a great scarcity to prevail in that colony of almost all the indispensable articles of life: in consequence of this, a proclamation has been issued by the court of police, under the authority of governor Bentinck, granting a bounty on the importation in British and neutral vessels, within the space of four weeks from the above date, of fifteen guilders per barrel on flour; five per hundred on rice; and two per hundred on beans and peas; and for four weeks further, a bounty on the said articles of 25 per cent. less than the above, deducted at the expiration of each fortnight. It appears also, that from the general prevalence of dry weather at Berbice, Demerary, and Essequebo the plantain crops have mostly failed, and as late as the 14th instant, great apprehensions of scarcity were entertained in those colonies, as well as at Surinam.

Treasury Department, 4th May, 1810.

SIR,

YOU will herewith receive a printed copy of an act, concerning the commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies; and for other purposes.

The instructions formerly given respecting the execution, of provisions of a similar nature, being applicable to the two first sections of the act, it is only necessary to observe, that the exclusion from the harbors or waters under the jurisdiction of the United States, embraces (subject only to the exceptions made in the act) every description of British or French armed vessels, whether public or private, and whether sailing with or without a commission, authorising the capture of vessels.

All other restrictions on the commercial intercourse with France or Great Britain, not previously repealed, have expired at the 1st inst.

I am, &c.

(Signed) ALBERT GALLATIN.

To the Collector of Charleston.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.

Captain Nickerson, from Laguira, informs that when he left that place, the 12th ultimo, every thing remained quiet under the new government. Two Commissioners or Agents from the new government to that of the United States, sailed on the 11th ult. in the schooner Fame, Davis, for Baltimore, on their way to the city of Washington.

NOTICE.

THE Creditors of the house of Clagman and McGaw, formerly of Alexandria, merchants, are requested to transmit their respective claims duly authenticated to Geo. W. Strong, esq. counsellor a law, No. 115, Burling Slip New York. The object of this request is to ascertain the entire amount of all claims on the said house, in the city of Alexandria and its vicinity, as preparatory to making some proposition for their final adjustment. As it will be impracticable to submit to the creditors any specific proposition, until the whole amount of the debts is known, it is of consequence that they should all attend to this notice; and it is hoped they will not suffer the period for transmitting their accounts to be protracted beyond the 20th day of June next.

5000 Acres of Land for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale a number of very valuable Tracts of Land in that part of the state of Georgia called the "NEW PURCHASE."

He can most confidently affirm that his title is clear and indisputable—this he wishes to impress in order to remove any prejudice that may exist in the minds of those disposed to purchase Georgia Lands. The tracts now for sale are situated between the Oconee and Ocmulgee rivers, and are within the last purchase made of the Indians by the state of Georgia. The legislature of Georgia to encourage the population of the district as well as to benefit the inhabitants of the state, had the purchase surveyed and divided into lots or squares of 202 and half acres each, and granted a lotter restricting the sale of tickets to the citizens of Georgia at a low price, the prizes to consist of lots within the purchase—a number of these lots the subscriber now offers for sale, some are in the vicinity of the city of Milledgeville, the permanent seat of the state government, its present white population exceeds 1800 souls—it is situated upon the verge of the Oconee, which is navigable for boats that carry from fifteen to twenty tons, to Darien, upon the Atlantic—indeed the whole purchase is become very populous, & those disposed to engage in southern agriculture, or to purchase upon speculation, cannot do better than to avail themselves of this opportunity to obtain good farms now for sale. Several of the tracts are contiguous to each other and some in the neighborhood of flourishing county towns; some unite many desirable advantages. The country generally is well supplied with branches, creek streams, rivers, and springs that constantly flow. Many of the tracts now advertised have the advantage of fine timber and mill seats.

Those inclined to become purchasers may know the terms by applying to the subscriber living at Alexandria in the district of Columbia.

GLENCARN;

OR

THE DISAPPOINTMENTS OF YOUTH,

A NOVEL.

BY GEORGE WATTERSTON, Esq.
Of Washington City,
Author of the Lawyer and Child of Feeling.

The celebrity of this author's "LAWYER," and "CHILD OF FEELING" induced the publishers to engage in this work, and without detracting from the merits of the former, feel themselves justified in stating that his GLENCARN is superior to either. It is submitted without further recommendation, with a wish, that the American reviewers may give further encouragement to this young gentleman's endeavors to entertain instruct and moralize his fellow citizens, in a way seemingly well calculated to attract their attention.
